Washington, Oct. 23.—The Board of Supervising Inspectors of Steamboats have agreed on several amendments to the law, which will be put into the form of a report and submitted to the Secretary of the Treasury for transmission to Cougress. It is by no means certain that the requests of the many steamboat owners who have been before the Board will be complied with, though it is evident that the law will be materially modified. The Board have thoroughly discussed the merits of the various life-saving inventions.

The Danger of Misrale.

It is a sad commentary upon the present condition of political affairs in this country that the very principle of its organization is overridden and the spirit of its existence is salled in one of the principal States, and that the people of that State appeal to their fellow-citizens of, the common country without a hearing. Though not so immediate in their operation, the riolations of the Constitution and the discogard for the freedom of the citizen which exist in Texas are of equal importance to the whole country. The present condition of affairs there is dangerous to the very existence of the American system, and should give occasion for alarm to every American citizen. It this is not remedied early, its svil will grow and spread, permeating, in its steakiny and treacherous advance, the government of State after State and sanctioned by the unnistakable tendency of the present similalistation of the General Government, until it takes possession of and undermines the organism of the Constitution and destroys the chartered rights of our free government.

This is no sudden outburst of alarm.

This is no sudden outburst of alarm songed at the sight of some questionable act of partisan legislation or partisan administration. Our convictions in regard to the tendency of this Texas matter are founded upon a close watchfulness of four years of oppression and despotte miscale in one of the most promising States of the Union, and that by a single man, who is encouraged by party leaders who were put is power by the people on the strength of their protestations to protect and preserve its power by the people on the strength of their protestations to protect and preserve he very liberties which they are now destroying. And this is not the first time we have spoken out in behalf of those all over the country whom this evil is sure to reach in time if it is allowed to go on unchecked and unrebuked. We have called attention to it repeatedly, and it has come to be a grave matter when such things are carried on in open daylight under the eyes of the whole country. North or South. True, and the people are so aluggish of the country and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the provided and the people are so aluggish of the provided and the provided and the peo by the power of the bayone; does it be-come necessity for the people to speak in propria persons. The press of Texasis able, brave and powerful, and Gov. Dayn will find in it is dangerous enemy.

But this will be a fight in Texas alone.

What we want to do is to call the atten-tion of the Democratic party and the lib-eral-minded and patriotic people of the Republican party to the alarming tendency of this maladministration of the law and the yiolations of the Constitution that Republican party to the alarming tendency of this maladministration of the law and the violations of the Constitution that are perpetuated by the party in power there. It is a sin that will become dangerously familiar if we see it too often and tolerate it too much. The condition of affairs in Texas calls for the immediate attention of the people of this country, who must hold responsible those who placed Days and his supporters in power.

The Rochester Chronicle says: "A One of the gre reporter of the Cincinnati Enquirer was sent to Chicago to write an account of the great fire. He has not since been heard from, and it is feared he was mistaken for an incandiary and hanged." Nobody in Cincinnati fears anything of the sort. De-pend spon it, that reporter knows what he is about, and will return in time to enable the Enquirer to publish the news of the creat fire as promptly as it usually publisher of the Cincinnati Enquirer wa

13 Herray Wand Brescum's paper, the Christian Union, in an article on Collector Myrayar, saks: "Will General Grayer insult the men of honor and integrity in the Republican party by giving them for a leader a man whose alleged deeds should have consigned him to the penitentiary?" If General Grayer can't answer this conjunction, he ought to resign and let COLYAN TR.

An exchange tells us that "it is a old superstition that, at her bridal, a lad old superstition that, as her bridal, a lad should always wear some article borrows from a friend for the occasion, to bring good luck." A similar superstition preach here. It was only last week that young man tried to borrow something o a friend to wear as his bridal. We believe they said it was a sen-dollar bill he wanted

The Chicago Evening Journal asks the press to exercise some care in crediting the many reports that go forth from there, and declares that they still, have a city of two hundred thousand inhabitants untouched by fire. It is our deliberate conviction that the Journal is gradually working itself up to the declaration that they haven't had any fire there as where haven't had any fire there anyhow. haven't had any tire there anyhow.

"good," says the Chicago Times, "and among the benefits of the Chicago fire was that our people were saved the infliction of VICTORIA CLAPLIX WOODSTULL, who was announced to lecture about these times."

We thought the fire would turn out to be a blessing in disguise, and it would seem from this that sure enough it has.

In they tell of a Chicago lady "whose husband was worth $250,000 before the fire, and who traveled last summer with Saratoga trunks; now all she has left was saved in two barrels." This case doesn't strike us as being so desperate as some others. Retailed at twenty cents a drink, those two barrels will furnish a right nice start.
